

I support proper and legal copyright protection. However, I also support the right and ability to make at least one copy of an on-air program for a consumer's personal use, such as viewing the program at a different time, or repeated viewing.

I have all but ceased viewing broadcast television due, in part, to the industry's insistence on locking up program material and dubious "copy protection" schemes.

If this "broadcast flag" is implemented, I will not allow any broadcast or cable television in my house.
